ANFUITES ARE STAGING COMEBACK IN NORTHWEST

Fengsiang Siezed; Chang Tso-lin Back Of Scheme, Report

HITS AT WU PEI-FU

Only Obstacle Is Attitude Of Honan Clique In Shensi

(Staff Wire To THE CHINA PRESS)

Kuyuan, Kansu, April 8.—An alliance between Tuchun Chen Shu-fang of Shensi and Kansu leaders to form a strong Anfu power in Northwest China is being planned. Chang Tso-lin, Tuchun of Fengtien, is godfathering the scheme. It is believed here that Chang Tso-lin is delaying his move in changing his attitude toward the Peking Government, because he is awaiting the consummation of Chen Shu-fang's establishment of power in Shensi, following which the Manchurian Chief will rely on him to check General Wu Pei-fu, the idol of the people today, effectively.

The only obstacle which may prevent the carrying out of the scheme is the uncertain attitude of the Honan party in Shensi under the leadership of the Civil Governor, Lin Chen-hua, who would seize any promising opportunity to counteract Tuchun Chen's activities.

Propects for the alliance is good as the Kansu leaders are no longer afraid of the activities of the Mohammedans since the earthquake cowed the latter.

The Defense Commissioner of Southeastern Kansu, General Kung, with headquarters at Tsingchow, who with General An Kwei, an Anfu militarist, is joining Chen Shu-fang, has sent six battalions of Kansu soldiers to attack Kuo Chien. The troops, who are under the command of the former brigand, Chang Kuo-chien, have bottled up Fengsiang, located within the impregnable walls of a stronghold made famous by the historical fights of the Han Dynasty.

The attackers are hoping that through the strife between Kuo Chien's own men within the city, the gates will be opened so that their entrance may be affected without much bloodshed.

The control of the most important faction of the so-called Southern forces, stationed North of the Wei River with headquarters in Sanyuan has been obtained by Hu Li-seng, who is secretly negotiating to establish his allegiance with Tuchun Chen Shu-fang. The Kuomingtang Commander, General Yu Yu-jen is planning to flee to Shanghai, while the eastern and less important factions under Kao Chun have already been defeated by Tuchun Chen pear the Honan border.

Peking, April 6.—Foreigners from the Yangtzse Valley by way of the Kin-Han Railway report great military activity in that section of the line where General Wu Pei-fu's men are drilling in numbers of from 500 to 2,000 at all the larger railway centers, while troops and military trains constantly move up and down the line in considerable numbers.

Wu Pei-fu is steadily adding recruits to his army, and both these and the veterans of Wu's forces are being drilled to the utmost. Rifles, machine-guns and ammunition are being purchased as fast as General Wu can raise the money. The atmosphere in Wu's camps is one of activity and definite purpose. No one has been able to find out just what his purpose is as neither Wu Pei-fu nor his officers are willing to discuss the subject.

HARDING TO TELL PEACE PLAN WHEN CONGRESS MEETS

Has Not Yet Committed Himself On "Congressional Declaration"

MAY ADDRESS LAW MAKERS

Said To Be More Than Ever Convinced That Versailles Pact Will Not Do

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, April 7.—President Harding has not committed himself to any definite program with regard to a Congressional declaration that the state of war with Germany is at an end.

While he voted for the Knox resolution when Senator, and spoke in favor of it in his address of acceptance, it is understood that he feels that there is no occasion for any precipitate action at this time.

It is expected that his views with regard to a peace program will be made known at the opening session of the new Congress, which Mr. Harding may address in person.

Meantime, it is known that President Harding and his advisers have grown more than ever convinced that there is no practicable way to consider the Versailles covenant.

Dawes Will Inquire Into Charges Made By Former Soldiers

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, April 7.—President Harding has asked a special commission, headed by Mr. Charles Dawes, to make a diligent inquiry, together with the heads of government departments, in an effort to ascertain just where government agencies have been "lacking in authority, and neglecting or failing" in caring for disabled service men. He is also asking that an investigation be made into "any abuses which have developed."

No Bolshevism In Straits Settlements

London, April 7.—In the House of Commons today, replying to Mr. Leonard Lyle, M. P., West Ham, Stratford division, Colonel Amery stated that no report of Bolshevist activities in the Straits Settlements and Malay States had been received from the Governor and High Commissioner, the Soviets undertaking, in accordance with the Trade Agreement, to refrain from conducting any official propaganda applied to British Malaya, said Colonel Amery, pointing out that the laws of the Straits Settlements and Malaya prohibited the circulation of seditious publications under stringent penalties.

GOLDEN STATE IN TODAY; TO BE 'AT HOME' SUNDAY

New Pacific Mail Liner Expected This Evening On Maiden Trip

PUBLIC MAY "LOOK SEE"

Reception Planned For Tomorrow Afternoon At C. M. Lower Wharf

The steamer Golden State, the first of the Shipping Board's big, new passenger liners to reach China is due to dock at the China Merchant's Lower Wharf at about 6 o'clock this evening. A telegram received late yesterday afternoon reports the vessel out of Kobe at 6 p.m. Thursday, with about 104 passengers, 304 bars of silver and 1,280 tons of cargo for this port.

The Golden State will be given over to public inspection by the Pacific Mail Steamship company on Sunday afternoon from 3 until 6 o'clock. Music will be furnished by the ship's band; dancing will be provided for and tea will be served. The ship's officers will show visitors over the vessel.

The new boat is commanded by Capt. G. W. Yardley, who formerly ran in the China service on the Venezuela. Capt. Yardley assumed command of the Golden State after he had taken the Creole State, a sister ship, on its maiden voyage from New York to San Francisco and delivered it there to the Pacific Mail company. The purser, Mr. T. C. Carroll, formerly served on the Ecuador.

HAS EVENTFUL TRIP

The Golden State has had an eventful voyage. Its being the first "535" to enter Shanghai harbor in service is not its only bid for fame. It raced on its maiden voyage from Baltimore to San Francisco, with its sister ship the Hawkeye State and it won. It carried as its first list of passengers a gathering of notables, including eleven of America's biggest millionaires, and it earned the reputation of having a "millionaire passenger list." The boat was feted at every port at which it stopped.

GREETED AT FRISCO

At San Francisco, the entrance through the famed Golden Gate to the harbor-waters of the state for which the Golden State was named was made into a veritable pathway of California Flowers. The liner was met by war ships, which formed a convoy, about it. Aeroplanes circled above dropping poppies and violets on the decks. At the dock, a reception committee of 500 Chamber of Commerce delegates, together with army, navy, state and city officials, stepped aboard. Every lady passenger was given a corsage of California flowers from the Golden State.

TRIALS SUCCESSFUL

The Golden State has given perfect service ever since it first took the water. In its trials it exceeded all requirements. In its race from Baltimore, through the Panama Canal to its home port at San Francisco, it showed that it is even better in point of speed than some of its sister ships. Out of Baltimore at 1 p.m., February 15, but four minutes ahead of the Hawkeye State, it steamed away, to an increasing lead, which never was lost. Before the Golden State was out into the sea, it was leading by fifteen minutes; the next telegram showed 17 miles in the van, and after that the Hawkeye never caught sight of the sister ship again. Much money was waged on this racing of sister ships by the millionaire passengers. Sums of $25,000 to $50,000 were bet.

The new steamer, nearing Japan ran into a terrific storm, which was sweeping the entire southern coast. Japanese communications were prostrated, Tokio was in darkness, many Japanese vessels were stranded along the coast, but the Golden State sailed serenely through it all, and arrived in Yokohama on its schedule, in time for the welcoming reception which had been arranged.

BRING GROUP OF SCIENTISTS

The Golden State brings many passengers of note on its first voyage to the Far East. One party of particular interest, is the much talked of "Missing Link" expedition, headed by Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, head of the New York Museum of Natural History, who, with a party of scientists are to explore inner Mongolia and far-off Thibet in search of the remains of primeval human races. This party left New York on the Golden State

DR. SUN ELECTED TO PRESIDENCY IN SOUTHERN CHINA

Move By Canton Parliament Follows Great Propaganda Campaign

BALLOTING IS 266 TO 31

General Tang Chi-yao Directing Spirit Back Of New Move; Martial Law On

The extraordinary session of Parliament in Canton on Thursday elected Dr. Sun Yat-sen president of the South China Republic by a vote of 266-31.

Before the election a great deal of propaganda work was done by Dr. Sun and General Tang Chi-yao. At a banquet given to Parliamentarians on the night before the election, General Tang Chi-yao spoke on the importance of the election.

After pointing out the danger of the Southwest in remaining in its present status General Tang stated that he had come to Canton not to defend the Constitution but to start a revolution. For this purpose, definite leadership was necessary and he considered that Dr. Sun was a fitting candidate to undertake such leadership.

As this was his mission, he said that unless the Parliamentarians make an immediate decision on this point, he would be compelled to leave Canton and form an allegiance with some other forces to carry out his revolutionary plans.

Martial law was immediately declared by the Naval authorities in the South as soon as the election took place. The attitude of the Navy, however, is not clear on the question of election.

Mr. Tang Shao-yi, one of the administrators who opposed the election, has left Canton for Hoensang, his home.

U.S. PLANS GREAT TRADE CAMPAIGN IN THE FAR EAST

New Steamship Lines To Be Established, With Manila As Center

Tokio, Apr. 3.—A United Press despatch from Washington to the Japan Advertiser says that an American commercial offensive in the Far East probably will be the major movement in an impending world shifting of ocean trade routes, planned to build up trans-Pacific trade in order to offset losses in commerce with Europe and South America.

The program includes the establishment of new steamship lines from San Francisco, Portland, Seattle, New Orleans, Galveston, other Gulf and South Atlantic ports, New York, Boston and Baltimore, and a campaign to secure heavy American investments in Japan, China, the Straits Settlements and Australia.

The Government is to co-operate with private interests in making Manila to American commerce what Gibraltar and Hongkong are to British foreign trade. It is pointed out that the plan involves a program of careful commercial diplomacy with Japan.

Post For Pershing Puzzles Washington

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, April 7.—In connection with Secretary Weeks' statement that the Government would find a berth for General Pershing commensurate with his powers, the post of Governor of the Philippine Islands has been suggested, but it is believed that this assignment would not be acceptable to the General himself.

He is also mentioned as a possible successor to Mr. Roland S. Morris, the present Ambassador to Japan.

New Marine Chief Leaves For Peking

Drawing And Painting Made Easy By This Invention

ANYONE can learn to draw or paint. A child can learn as easily as he learns to read and write. Putting form and color on paper or canvas is only a matter of training of the eye, and such training can be easily acquired through an invention by Anson H. Cross, instructor at the Boston University Art School. A pane of glass equipped with a spirit level and special lenses is the new device. After a few lessons with [illegible] person of ordinary intelligence can draw without it. The lessons begin with drawing on the glass while the student looks at the model through the lens. The function of the lens is to bring color, light and shade into relief. After a little practice on the glass, sketching with a soft crayon, the student will become a keen enough observer to draw well on paper without even the old-fashioned measuring method. Mr. Cross spent twenty years studying in perfecting his device. The illustration shows Mr. Cross and [illegible] student using the device in sketching a model of Venus de Milo.

Raises For All Departments Recommended In Report Of Municipal Salaries Body

Commission Sets Higher Minimum Wage For Practically All Foreign Employes; Advocates Policy Of Promotion On Basis Of Merit

The report of the Municipal Salaries commission, which has been sitting for nearly a year in consideration of salary revision and betterment of working conditions among employes of the various Municipal branches, is issued today in the form of a special gazette and carries recommendations for pay raises of varying extent in the different classes and departments.

The commission's report on the questions of retirement and superannuation, constituting what is felt by most of the employes to be the most important item of the body's findings, has not yet been completed, but is expected to be issued shortly.

Owing to the range of departmental classes it is impossible to give an estimate of the average increase advised and comparison of the new with the present figures involves too exhaustive treatment of the matter. Practically all of the minimum and maximum wage figures, have been advanced—the latter in the case of senior posts, however, being left to the discretion of the Council—the increase in the case of the lower foreign ranks showing, of course, the great percentage, amounting in some instances to about 35 percent.

ADVANCE BY MERIT STRESS

Regarding the increases the commission says:

"The commission considers that the present system of advancing the salary of each individual, by a more or less fixed proportion of 15 percent, on the renewal of the triennial agreement is too automatic and does not sufficiently encourage zeal and initiative. It recommends that as far as possible the granting of increases be dependent upon and in accordance with merit."

Starting out with a definition of what the Municipal service should offer as a career, the report states that the service should hold prospects comparing favorably with those held forth by other local services, commercial or industrial concerns and emphasises in connection with the matter of remuneration and advancement to the most senior posts that these should rest upon merit.

The present method of arranging terms of remuneration—on the termination of triennial agreements—the commission holds to be open to serious objection and the renewal of agreements, it advises, should be considered three times a year.

The report, besides dealing with salaries, touches upon the matters of proper standards of living, various allowances, housing, comparison of sterling and silver salaries, medical attendance, leave and passages and educational benefits.

SCORES LIVING STANDARD

The present standard of living in Shanghai the commission scores as "extravagant beyond all necessity and beyond all reason," reacting unfavorably on the whole life of the community, but most unfavorably upon new arrivals, tempting them to maintain a standard incommensurable with their needs and means.

"The standard to which a Municipal employe should be able to conform," the report declares, "is the standard to which other men of similar education, age and position in other concerns in Shanghai can reasonably conform. In this connection the commission regards as its most important recommendation the proposed adjustment of the lower scales of pay in order to enable all employes to meet the higher cost of a reasonable standard of living."

As regards marriage allowances the report recommends retention of the principle of making no differentiation in salary as between married and unmarried men but recommends that the present provision for an allowance of 5 percent on monthly salary up to a Tls. 300 maximum (exclusive of allowances) for each child not exceeding two in number, with age limitations, be changed to the provision of a uniform allowance of Tls. 15 per child per month, not exceeding

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE "TRIPLE ALLIANCE" VOTE TO JOIN WALKOUT

All Efforts By Lloyd George And Aides To Induce Miners To Meet Envoys Of Government And Mine Owners Prove Unavailing

PREMIER VOICES STRONG WARNING

Tells Labor Men They Cannot Coerce Nation, And Predicts Defeat For Them; Drastic Measures Taken To Meet Emergency

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 8, 12:45 p.m.—As the result of a meeting of the transport-workers' and railwaymen's leaders this morning, a Triple Alliance strike was decided upon. The Triple Alliance comprises the miners, railwaymen and transport-workers.

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 7, 2:50 p.m.—At the conference today between the Prime Minister and the Miners Federation Executive, the latter, in addition to declining to give way on the question of the pumpmen returning to work, demanded the re-establishment of the national profits pool and a national wages basis as conditions for the reopening of the negotiations, but Mr. Lloyd George said the Government were unable to Accede to these demands.

Upon the conclusion of the conference the Miners' Executive returned to their headquarters. There will be a full conference of the Triple Alliance this afternoon. The situation is regarded in trades union quarters as extremely s[illegible]

London, April 7 5:25 p.m.—According to the official report of the conference between the Prime Minister and the Miners' Executive, the former pointed out that it was not the flooding of the mines that had driven the government 10 negotiate but the knowledge that if repeated strikes continued, the industrial position of the country would be absolutely destroyed as was the case in Russia.

INSIST ON "LOCKOUT"

Mr. Herbert Smith and others retorted that it was not a strike but a lockout. They insisted on the concession of a national wage board and a national pool before they could allow any of even the "safety" men to resume work. Mr. Austen Chamberlain joined the Prime Minister's appeal not to destroy the national. All then retired for a few minutes.

On the resumption of the conference, Mr. Lloyd George said that the decision of the Federation was one of the gravest mistakes in psychology ever made by the leaders of a great organisation. They misunderstood their fellow-countrymen if they thought threats could frighten them. No government, he concluded, could possibly recommend the acceptance of their conditions.

London, April 7.—In the House of Commons this afternoon, Mr. Lloyd George described the proceedings at this morning's abortive conference with the Miners' Executive at downing Street. As a preliminary to bringing the miners and the coal owners together, the Prime Minister had appealed for the resumption of pumping, but the Executive explained that the withdrawal of the pumpmen was deliberate and that if they allowed them to return they would be throwing away the only weapon on which they relied to force the mine owners and the Government speedily to accept their terms. The riners' officials further declared that the two fundamental principles, namely, a national wages system and a national pool, must be conceded. (Cries of: "Direct action!")

AN ULTIMATUM

The Prime Minister replied that this was an ultimatum proposing conditions which the Government had already rejected, namely, the resumption of control and a possible subsidy. It was apparent that the issue raised was much wider than the question of wages. (Loud cheers from the ministerial benches. The Government always kept an open mind on the questions wages and labor. (Cheers). He extremely regretted the miners' grave decision, but since the Federation had made it clear that it would not consider a settlement or save the mines until all its demands had been conceded, the Government relying on the assistance of the great mass of the people. (Loud cheers), must take every means in their power to meet the situation. (Loud cheers).

Mr. J. R. Clynes, and Mr. Arthur Henderson, having contended that the miners at Downing Street offered to confer with the owners without conditions, Mr. Lloyd George declared that this was inaccurate. Mr. Henderson then expressed the opinion that there had been some blunder and he urged the parties to get face to face without conditions.

Mr. Duncan Graham and Mr. Vernon Hartshorn (Labor) accused the Government of putting obstacles in the way of an unconditional conference between the miners and the mine owners.

Lord Robert Cecil suggested moving the adjournment of the House in order that the whole matter might be threshed out, and Mr. Austen Chamberlain consented.

PREMIER'S POSITION

Mr. Lloyd George proceeded to reiterate that until the miners had withdrawn their conditions and were prepared, during the negotiations, to act in a spirit of truce—it was only a question of twenty-five thousand men from over one million in order to protect the most dangerous plit—the Government must count on doing its best to save the mines by working with the owners and with the assistance of well-disposed citizens.

Mr. Duncan Graham, continuing, appealed to the Government not to prejudge the case by insisting on conditions that the miners could not accept. Mr. Asquith expressed the opinion that the Miners' Executive ought to reconsider its position and he asked whether the Federation were determined to postpone discussion in regard to the safety of the mines until two of the most vexed questions had been decided in their favor. He intimated that public opinion did not support the miners in the decision they had inadvisedly taken.

A feature of the discussion was the conciliatoriness of the tone adopted by Messrs Clynes, Henderson and Thomas and their evident dislike for the pumping decision. The fact that Mr. Hodges, after interviewing a number of Labor members, had a conversation with the Prime Minister, gave rise to the hope in the lobby that there was a possibility of a fresh change in the situation, although the Labor leaders had declared that if there were no chance by noon tomorrow a general strike was inevitable.

PUMPING ISSUE

Mr. Lloyd George said he understood that Mr. J. H. Thomas had suggested that the Government should summon a conference of miners and owners first to consider and dispose of the question of pumping before the other questions were considered. The Government had no objection to participating in such a conference if all agreed that pumping was to be the first question to be discussed and disposed of. If that were the proposal the Government was agreeable to summoning a conference.

Mr. Arthur Henderson replying, as Mr. Thomas had left the House declared that in view of the momentous character of the Prime Minister's statement, the only safe line was for the Prime Minister to communicate his statement by letter to the miners' officials.

Reuter's Agency learns that there is every likelihood that the offer will be accepted.

London, April 7, 5.55 p.m.—A delegate conference of the Railwaymen's Union today unanimously decided that the miners were justified in refusing to accept the conditions offered to them. The railwaymen feel that the acceptance of these conditions by the miners would be the beginning of a general attack on the condition of the working class and an attempt to re-establish the pre-war standard. The railwaymen have therefore decided to invite the Transport Workers to join in an immediate consultation with a view to taking the most effective and speedy steps to assist the miners.

INTIMIDATION USED

London, April 7, 6.10 p.m.—While the Miners' Executive remains obdurate in rejecting the Prime Minister's appeal to prevent the destruction of the mines, reports from Scotland and Wales today show that an intensive campaign of intimidation is proceeding with a view to stopping every pump. Bombs were thrown in one colliery near Boness in order to terrorise the volunteer pumpmen. No damage was caused but the volunteers were withdrawn. Crowds headed by bands of pipers secured the stoppage of the pumps in the other districts.

The miners in Wales march to the work of intimidation, singing to the music of brass bands and carrying red flags. Five thousand miners sank hymns while waiting for the manager of the Wattstown collieries near Cardiff. They secured from him the undertaking that the pumping would be stopped on the threat of violence if the volunteers did not clear out.

Seven pits in the Rhondda district alone are reported to be flooded and reports are also coming in to the effect that shipbuilding and engineering works are being closed down.

Mixed Court Jottings

Because he had served with the Chinese Labor Corps in France an armed robber who confessed to holding up an exchange shop on Wuhu Road received a sentence of but ten years in the Mixed Court yesterday. After the robbery the man fired a shot at Chinese pursuing him and struck one of the others implicated in the holdup. An accomplice, also tried yesterday, was sentenced to four years.

A chauffeur who drove an automobile truck which killed a Chinese youth on Yu Yuen Road Wednesday was exonerated at an inquest held yesterday over the body of the victim. Evidence showed that two Chinese were riding a bicycle, one on the handle bars. The latter, frightened when he heard the truck, jumped off and ran directly in front of the big machine. The rear wheels ran over the body.

After a chase which has extended to various nearby cities and covered a period of three years, International Settlement Police arrested a houseboy who they say has confessed to larceny of jewelry from Mrs. Laurenz of 14 Kiukiang Road. The Chinese, formerly employed by Mrs. Laurenz as a servant, disappeared after working two days.

B. Khremoff, a clerk in the Russo-Asiatic Bank, was fined $5 in the Mixed Court yesterday for speeding on a motorcycle along Bubbling Well Road. Police testimony was to the effect that the cycle was being driven at between 40 and 45 miles an hour.

A shopkeeper was fined $10 yesterday for storing twenty-four cases and two barrels of kerosine in a room in which soldering operations were being carried on around a charcoal fire.

Banvard's

Good music and catchy songs smothered whatever plot there might have been to the newest Banvard offering, "Coming Down" given at the Olympic last night.

There was a hint or two that the coming down had been suddenly done by an aeroplanist. He landed within the compound of a convent. It was a plotful situation. But whenever the story threatened to crop up, a good bit of song, a dance, or a bit of snatchy dialogue forced it again into the background.

Of the sixteen song numbers perhaps "Vesper Bells" by Viola Williams, or "Patches" by the same artiste, or "Ladies You're Wonderful" by Ian Mac Lean, made the deepest impression upon the whistling memories of the audience.

A hit was the eccentric dance by Winnie Goodwin and Adrian Ross, another was the policeman review, and their reports of duty in Shanghai. Laugh hits followed one upon the other in rapid succession.

The costumes showed the show off well. The Beauty chorus kept their usual pace.

The show continues tonight.

Raises For All Departments Recommended In Report Of Municipal Salaries Body

three in number and within the existing age limitations.

HOUSE ALLOWANCE GIVEN

In connection with the housing problem the commission in its recommendations, states that consideration has been given to what is believed a reasonable minimum wage for each particular group of employes and has added thereto a house allowance of 20 percent in the case of married men and 12 1/2 percent for single men, with a minimum of Tls. 50 and Tls. 35 respectively and a maximum for both of Tls. 200. While an employe occupies quarters provided by the Council this allowance is not advised for payment.

In the matter of medical attendance and hospital expenses the provisions already in force are left unaltered.

The recommendations regarding leave are as follows:

"That eight months' full pay leave be granted to employes of the Municipal Council every five years, the first leave to be due on completion of five years' service and every succeeding leave to become due five years from the commencement of the previous leave except in cases of extension due to special circumstances."

Where leave is deferred through exigencies of service the Commission recommends discontinuing the practice of giving extra remuneration and substituting extra leave at the rate of one week for every three months after the expiry of four months during which leave has been deferred.

PASSAGE ALLOWANCE

Present arrangements governing the payment of passage on long leave travel are regarded as satisfactory, with minor provisions recommended, as the provision of first class passage where intermediate is due and unobtainable and the stoppage of house allowance during travelling periods.

Educational benefits are believed generously sufficient as at present, also the language allowance.

The commission recommends that the supplying of coal and electric light to certain employes should cease, except in the case of police and fire stations and hospitals.

As to disablement allowances, it is felt that the employes may well depend upon the generosity of the Council, as is the present practice, rather than that any stated sum be set.

For purposes of comparison between present and recommended scales of pay the following figures are given, as concerning ranks from Superintendent down to Constable:

MONTEAGLE AIDS SHIP IN DISTRESS ARRIVAL DELAYED

Standing By Stranded Hsientien, Near Lammocks; Leaves Monday

The Canadian Pacific liner Monteagle, which was due off Woosung early Sunday morning, has been delayed, according to telegraphic advices received at the Shanghai offices yesterday and will probably not arrive until some time on Monday.

The Monteagle, the telegram states, is standing by the steamer Hsientien, from Saigon, which is reported to be sinking six miles west of Lammocks. Assistance to the stranded steamer, the Monteagle's message states, is expected from Hongkong but in the meantime the C.P.O.S. steamer is standing by and aiding all assistance possible.

It is not expected that the Monteagle can arrive here in time to leave for Vancouver before Monday, April 11.

The unexpected delay to the Monteagle will extend the time for the closing of mails for that ship. Whether or not this mail time may be expended until Monday morning could not be stated last night. Some additional telegram should come from the Monteagle today, from which a definite closing time for mails may be set. It will be safe, at any rate, to consider the mails open until Sunday afternoon.

Uncle James ... Mr. H. Rawson

"BELINDA"

A Comedy in Three Acts by A. A. Milne.

Cast:

Mrs. Tremayne..Mrs. Worcester
Delia (her daughter) Miss Catherine Maitland
Betty (a maid) Mrs. Michael Dillon
John Tremayne Mr. H. E. Muriel
Claude Devenish (a poet) Mr. B. Lawrie Smith
Harold Baxter (a professor) Mr. Eric Prince

The A.D.C. undoubtedly scored another success last night when they produced "Belinda" preceded by "The Boy Who Comes Home." Both plays were written by one of England's new playwrights, Mr. A. A. Milne. Despite the fact that there was little action in any scene, and that most of the interest depended upon the dialogue, the lines were so well turned and the players so familiar with their parts that no point was missed and a full house thoroughly enjoyed both plays.

"The Boy Comes Home" was staged by Mr. G. J. Morley Peel. It is a splendid little act. Mr. Morley Peel played the part of the boy—Philip—and by his natural bearing and his fine elocution he at once convinced the house that "The Boy" is worthy of a welcome. He is to be very heartily congratulated upon his fine work. Sharing honors with him was Mr. H. Rawson, who in the part of "Uncle James" put any amount of character into his part and there is little doubt that the A.D.C. will find lots of work for this new recruit. Then there was Mrs. Rawson, who was excellent in the small part of "Mrs. Higgins" and Mrs. Allison who portrayed "Aunt Emily." Miss Phil Berry did splendidly as "Mary." There can be no two opinions on "The Boy Comes Home." It is well written and last night it was well acted.

"Belinda" is a play that calls for fine acting. It has little action. But there is a ripple of laughther in every line. "Belinda" needs a Marie Tempest, or an Irene Vanbrugh, or to come nearer home a—Mrs. Worcester. One doubts if any other amateur could possibly have improved upon her fine conception of the part. She recognised that she was dealing with a delicate fabric, she knew that every line called for special attention, she was convinced that words meant more than anything else and so she studied. She studied so well, in line, gesture, expression, deportment that she made "Belinda" a very memorable portrayal and one that will stand out prominently in the gallery of the A.D.C.

Miss Catherine Maitland made her first appearance on the Lyceum Theater stage. She had to play a big part. She had to be a foil to a brilliant mother. She was "Delia." To say she was "Delia" is the highest compliment we can pay her. She is a charming little lady. She has real talent. Her voice is as clear as a well tempered bell, she knows how to say her words, and she acts every moment she is on the stage. Miss Maitland is to be warmly congratulated.

Mr Lawrie B. Smith had a difficult juvenile part but a nice appearance, a good voice, and some clever playing made him particularly popular with the audience.

Quite one of the most convincing parts in the play was that of "Jack Tremayne," portrayed by Mr. H. E. Muriel. Aided by a finely modulated voice, a good presence and a definite conception of his part he had a big share in the success of "Belinda."

Mr. Eric Prince is well known to local playgoers and so it is of little surprise that he should be cast for the part of "Baxter" the most exacting characterisation in the play. He has probably more lines than anyone else in the piece, with the exception of Mrs. Worcester, but from what we were able to see and hear in front, he never missed a line and never misinterpreted one. He seems to revel in character studies. We doubt if he has ever done better than in his depiction of "Harold Baxter." A word of praise is also demanded by Mrs. Dillon who so charmingly played the small part of "Betty."

The program of music was supplied by the British Amateur Orchestra, and proved thoroughly enjoyable. Another feature of the show was the excellent mounting of all the scenes. When the curtain rose on the first act of "Belinda" a big round of applause greeted the pretty setting. It was repeated again when the curtain went up on acts two and three.

"Belinda" and "The Boy Comes Home" will be repeated again tonight and a big house is already assured.

Amendments Body Of League Meets

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, April 8.—The Amendments Commission of the League of Nations has held its first sitting. It must report to the Council of the League by June 1, to enable the Council to determine the recommendations it will make to the members of the League, in view of the second meeting of the Assembly of the League in September.

The Commission invited the Czecho-Slovakian and Chinese delegates to explain the amendments to Article 21 of the League Covenant submitted by their respective Governments.

(Note.—This Article reads as follows: "Nothing in this Covenant shall be deemed to affect the validity of international engagements, such as treaties of arbitration or regional understandings like the Monroe Doctrine, for securing the maintenance of peace.")

The Chinese Government proposes to replace this article by the following: "The Monroe Doctrine is recognised as being not incompatible with any provisions of the present Covenant."

U.S. Laying Plans For Aero Activities

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)

Washington, April 7.—Plans for a new commission to prepare regulations for the government of air routes and landing fields, and laws effecting commercial and pleasure aviation, are ready for President Harding's approval. The personnel of the commission is also being worked out by the National Advisory Commission on Aeronautics.

The Commission will consist of eight members, representing the War, Navy, Commerce and Post Office Departments and commercial aviation interests.

The appointment of the commission and the wide powers given it for drafting the basis of a permanent commercial aviation policy will be the greatest step yet to be taken by the Government to place commercial aviation on a sound footing, officials say.

Chinese Art In Tang Perioa Described At Meeting Of Women's Club Department

The intricate beauties and philosophical symbolism of Chinese art in the period of the Tang dynasty were described to the Literary Department of the American Woman's Club yesterday afternoon by Mrs. W. W. Bartlett and Miss E. S. Lester, in a program of unusual interest. Mrs. Bartlett told the romantic story of the Emperor Ming Huang, A.D. 712-756, famous patron of art and letters and devoted lover of the beautiful Yang Kwei Fei, his passion for the "Cleopatra of China" bringing him at last to abdication and exile.

"The reign of Ming Huang was an illustrious failure," Mrs. Bartlett said. "Though he lacked strength as a ruler, the romance that surrounded his life has made him a favorite figure in Chinese song and story. He is known for his diverse achievements as an artist, musician, and polo-player, to say nothing of his devoted love for one woman."

Ming Huang's affection for the Lady Yang wove such a net of intrigue and caused so much clamor among his subjects that the heart-broken emperor was obliged at last to order the execution of his beloved in order to prevent the overturning of his kingdom. After the lady of his heart had been strangled by two yards of priceless silk, Ming Huang set aside his crown and proceeded in sorrowful exile to Szechuen. Though later recalled by his son, who succeeded him, the imperial patron of arts lived the rest of his life as a gloomy recluse in an isolated palace.

Chinese tradition says that the Emperor was privileged before death to have an interview with his departed lady in the empty moon, the moon mother waiving, for his sake, the convention that forbade men to enter her abode. Chinese literature is comparatively poor in lovers, but the story of Ming Huang and Yang Kwei Fei makes up for at least in part for the tendency of her poets to glorify filial devotion above the love of man and woman.

The Golden Era of Chinese literature and painting, which came to its full fruition in the period of the Tang Dynasty, was described in detail by Miss E. S. Lester.

MISS LESTER SPEAKS

"As we observe the pictures themselves, we can discern a few of the main lines characteristic of this wonderful period," she said. Here one looks for strength and masculine vigor, for power in broad brush strokes, for movement and action, and for subjects close to life," Miss Lester said, "These characteristics reflect the people, for as Dr. Cox said, "The Tangs were farmers in the morning, warriors at noon, and poets and painters in the evening. According to a well-known Chinese writer, the total number of painters during the Tang period is 206."

With the aid or reprints thrown upon the screen and priceless paintings loaned for the occasion by Dr. Stafford Cox and Mr. Li Ping Shu, Miss Lester entered into a detailed description of several masterpieces produced in the Tang period.

"One of the most beautiful paintings of this era is the Seated Kwan-yin by Li Pen," Miss Lester said, "The figure sits among rough rocks of blue, green and gold, in a cave where stalactites hang from overhead. The whole body is enshrouded in on elaborate lace veil, hanging from the tiara and colored in tones of cream over the ,heavier colors. The crystal vase of the Water of Life is on a jutting slab of rocks and in the water at her feet, are coral and lotus. The small attendant raises his hands in prayer; the goddess seems to bend graciously toward him. The colors are rich reds, orange, greens, and blues, heightened with touches of gold. An effect of sweetness and spirituality pervades the painting."

"CELESTIAL MUSICIANS"

Miss Lester then described a painting called "Celestial Musicians" by an unknown artist, which Sia and Stein found in Chinese Turkestan and is especially interesting because it shows the fusion of Indian ideals of sacred art with those of the Chinese. The speaker referred briefly to Wei chih, painter of Chinese flowers, whose colors looked as if they were poured from the silk; Chang Hsiao-shih, who depicted the horrors of the Buddhist purgatory, with all its variety of tortures; Hsieh Chi, painter of the crane; Li Ssu-hsien, a great landscape painter; and Am Tao Tyuan, said to be greatest Chinese artist, ancient or modern.

Setting out in the world as a poverty-stricken orphan, Am Tao Yuan soon became so famous that the Emperor gave him a post at court. About 720, he painted his famous portrait of General P'ei, who, instead of sitting for him, danced a sword dance before him, the result being that he turned out a picture in which people said that he must have been helped by the gods. A "Purgatory" painted by him lacks the more obvious horrors stressed by other artists but such an impression of murkiness and uncanny gloom that the spectator turns cold as he looks at it. Am is said to have painted over 300 frescoes on the walls of temples alone, the variety of detail in each case being truly astounding. Perhaps the most famous of all his works is a conception of Buddha's entry into Nirvana. Some critics claim that it is the most beautiful and perfect work of all ages. All the figures surrounding Buddha, even the birds and beasts of the field, are represented in sorrow and anguish—the Buddha alone is placid.

DESCRIBES OTHER PAINTINGS

Miss Lester described several other masterpieces, including a painting of Kwan Yin by Wu Tao Tsu, a unique sketch of a banana tree in a snowstorm by an artist fond of freakish subjects, and portrayals of horses by Ts'ao Pa.

"The Tang painters are unique in the magnitude of their task, in their conquest and reduction of vast space, in their glorification of the beauties of nature, in their expression of line and color, and above all in their spiritual and emotional power," said Miss Lester in conclusion. "Chinese pictorial art is really painted music, with all the shades of expressive modulation. In depth of thought and feeling, the great Tang masters vie with Beethoven and in line and color the almost reach Mozart's eternal grace and beauty."

At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. H. A. Wilbur, chairman of the department, announced that a party was being organised to visit Soochow on April 23 to study objects of artistic interest in the city.

Germans Must Havre Permit To Retun To British Colonie.

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 7.—In the House of Commons today Sir Walter De Frece (Conservative) asked what arrangements had been made to regulate the return of Germans to those portions of the British Empire that were directly administered by the Colonial Office.

Colonel Amery replied that an ex-enemy alien seeking admission to a colony or protectorate during the next three years would have to be provided with a permit signed by the Colonial Secretary or other corresponding officer of the colony in question.

Berlin, April 7.—A German note to the Entente governments requests that the territories of Upper Silesia in which a plebiscite was taken should be integrally assigned to Germany on the ground that Germany secured two-thirds of the votes in the country an overwhelming majority of the communes. The note claims that the existence and prosperity of Silesia and Germany are interdependent and promises to protect the Polish minority and to grant the Poles assistance and concessions.

Paris, April 6.—Speaking in the Senate, the Premier, M. Briand, stated that the present financial difficulties were the consequences of Germany's bad faith, which obliged France to shoulder the latter's liabilities arising from the Peace Treaty. Now, after two years' patience, France was firmly resolved to get her due, and to resort to force if necessary. Despite Germany's efforts, he added, the Allies were as closely united as ever.

Quotes Bernhardi To Show That America Is Not Dangerous Adversary

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, April 6.—A further example of the anti-American propaganda being issued by Japan, is evinced by the following article appearing in a recent issue of the Tsinan Jih Jao, a powerful Japanese organ printed in the Chinese vernacular at Tsinanfu, the capital of Shantung.

Referring to a previous article under the caption of "Is the American Army Worth Our Fear:" the writer expresses his satisfaction that Bernhardi, in discussing the possibilities of a war between America and Japan, agrees so fully with his own conclusions to the effect that such a war would end in drawn results except that "the Philippine Islands and other American possessions in the Pacific would be occupied by the Japanese army. While it would be difficult for us to occupy American territory, it would be equally difficult for the American army to set foot on our land, and though it would not be impossible for us to take the Philippine Islands and other American possessions in the Pacific, as Mr. Bernhardi has said, it would be contrary to our plan to make costly sacrifices to effect their capture."

Continuing, the writer says: "In a war which we expect to last ten years, economy is a matter of supreme importance. Expenditure for such war necessities as fuel, arms and ammunition, should not be made unless strictly necessary for bringing the war to a successful conclusion. On the other hand we should do our utmost to preserve peace in China and in Siberia, so that we can fulfill our mission in this world and establish the foundations of an everlasting empire, and the whole people should be united for the development of war industries and daily necessities, so that in case of emergency there would be no shortage. Should these conditions be fulfilled we would have nothing to fear from a war with America, which must be limited to the waters of the Pacific.

"In preparing ourselves for the coming struggle we must first construct battleships of the newest type, which is rather difficult, if not impossible, in view of the lack of technical ability and requisite material, a difficulty that at first appears unsurmountable, but can be easily overcome when the fact of China's and Siberia's material resources are taken into consideration—resources that offer unlimited opportunity to the developer.

"In oder to improve technical skill, laws must be enacted for the promotion of technical education, while technical experts from England, France and Australia can be engaged to assist us in shipbuilding."

Golden State In Today; To Be 'At Home' Sunday

and though no advance list of arriving passengers is available, it is believed they stayed with the steamer on its whole trip.

Another, perhaps not the least bid for fame for the Golden State is that it is believed to be sailing under the new Volstead, prohibition act. It will be the first dry ship to reach China under the new ruling that America's prohibition applies to her merchant marine as well as to homeland. It is expected that the incoming passengers will be very dry on arrival. And it is further expected that passengers booked south on the Golden State will prepare themselves for a dry ship, yet may be not a dry trip.

Among those booked out on the Golden State are: For Manila—Messrs F. A. Diekhoff, A Gerner, S. J. Grace, C. Rehnborg, P. M. Anderson, W. M. States and S. G. Kirkland. For Hongkong—E. M. Berry, L. A. Carter, A. L. Heath, and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hawley and Mr. and Mrs. Lantman.

Big Crowd Attends Clergyman's Trial

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 7.—The interest of the crowds of people assembled at Downing Street is divided today, some in watching the arrivals to the Coal Conference, and others in the proceedings of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, which is hearing the appeal of Archdeacon Wakeford against the sentence promulgated by the Lincoln Consistory Court, depriving him of all promotions and emoluments relating to his office, on the ground of adultery.

This is the first time in 30 years that the Privy Council has heard an appeal from a Consistory Court. The Lord Chancellor, Lord Birkenhead, is presiding over the court, and is assisted by Lords Buckmaster, Dunedin and Shaw, Lords of Appeal, with the Bishops of London, Gloucester, Rochester and Ely as Ecclesiastical Assessors.

ASTHMA INSTANTLY RELIEVED

A Noted Physician will prove this to sufferers in (Shanghai).

The astonishing statement that Asthma can be relieved instantaneously, coming from so well known authority as Dr. R. Schiffmann, will be of interest to asthma sufferers. The experience of most Asthmatics has been that little, if any, relief has been afforded them by the methods heretofore employed, as well as the disease has been regarded as incurable. This noted physician has, however, after a life-long study of Asthma and kindred diseases, discovered a remedy which instantly relieves the severest cases of Asthma, Hay Fever and Bronchitis. So complete is Dr. Schiffmann's confidence in his remedy that he requests this paper to announce that today and tomorrow he offers a liberal sample box of "Schiffmann's Asthmador" free of charge, to all persons applying at A. S. Watson & Co., Ltd., 16 Nanking Road.

Dr. Schiffmann believes that an actual test will be the most convincing, and in fact the only way to overcome the natural prejudice of thousands of Asthmatics who have heretofore sought relief in vain. Persons residing in other localities, outside of this city, who desire to try this medicine, will be sent a free sample package per post, providing they send simply their name and full address (no other writing on a post card, within the next six days to Mullez Phipp's & Hodges (China) Ltd., 1B Jinkee Road, Shanghai.

TRACK AND FIELD GAMES AT FAR EAST OLYMPIC WILL BE RUN BY CHINESE

But One Foreigner To Act As Official, Departure Marking Important Advance In Oriental Athletic History; Shanghai Men Named

Chinese will run the Far Eastern championship games which start here May 20 and the coming track and field meet will be the first truly "Far Eastern" games since the inception of the biennial list of athletic events. There will be but one foreigner in the group of men on duty at the field and he is a physician, Dr. H. H. Morriss of St. Luke's Hospital. Two Chinese doctors will also be available at all times.

The selection of Chinese officials strikes a new note in athletic history of the Far East and although many of the men have been trained abroad no other country has attempted the idea. A year ago last May at Manila there were several Filipino officials but most of them were in positions of minor importance.

Included in the list of officials who have been requested to act are graduates of West Point, Springfield Y. M. C. A. College and various other institutions in the United States. Others have officiated at previous Far Eastern Championships, some have been members of athletic teams representing China in former Olympics and one, Dr. P. M. Gee of Tientsin, was one of the coaches of the China team which went to Manila in 1919.

Dr. Gee is an American citizen having been born in San Francisco.

Several Shanghai men have been named and two of the biggest jobs at the track and field games come to local men. H. G. Lee, formerly Soochow University man and starter at the 1915 games, will act in the same capacity this year. C. G. Hoh of the Shanghai Y. M. C. A. has been named as marshal of the meet.

Dr. Chang Po-ling of Nankai University, Tientsin, one of the most experienced track officials in China, has been requested to act as referee.

The complete list of officials follows:

Referee.—Dr. Chang Po-ling Nankai University, Tientsin.

Inspectors.—Captain Tsao, Shanghai. West Point Graduate; E. E Lu-Nan-king, staff of Physical Training College; Z. C. Chen, Shanghai; W. J. Wen, Shanghai; local "Y" returned student.

Starters.—H. G. Lee, Shanghai.

Clerks of Course.—T. B. Chang, Shanghai Y.M.C.A.; M. F. Hui, Canton; K. T. Hsu, Peking; S. S. Young, Peking.

Marshal.—C. G. Hoh, Shanghai.

Official surveyor—W. W. Lau, Shanghai.

AUSTIN RICE HAD NOTABLE RECORD

Iron Man Met All The Best Bantams And Featherweights

New York.—The death of Austin Rice through an accident brought expressions of regret from many New Yorkers who had seen the Iron Man in action in the ring. Rice's death was the result of injuries received in Old Lyme, Conn., when he was run over by a heavy wagon. He was taking a load of ties out of the woods, and in turning on to the State highway the wheels sunk into the soft mud and the load began to shift. The horses were frightened and started to run. Rice grabbed a wagon stake but lost his balance and was thrown by the frantic jerking of the horses. The two right wheels passed over the middle of his body.

Death was caused by a ruptured bladder and fracture of the pelvis. An operation was performed, but the injuries were too severe for the rugged old ring master to overcome.

Rice was 48 years old and was born in Waterford the son of a farmer. He was a carpenter, but for more than twenty years, from 1890 to 1910, was well known through scores of ring battles, some of which were of many rounds and against some of the best boxers of the day.

MET FAMOUS BOXERS

Beginning in 1897, Rice met some of the best men of his weight in the country. He defeated Jerry Barnett in five rounds, Eugene Hornbacker in four rounds, knocked out Jack Wolff in three rounds, Johnny Ryan in three rounds, the famous Patsy Broderick in eleven rounds, and drew with Sammy Meyers in nine rounds. Billy Murphy in twenty rounds, and Oscar Gardner, one of the best of the day, in twenty rounds. He lost in that year to Patsy Haley, a star, in twenty rounds and to Sammy Kelly, another star, in seventeen rounds.

LOST TO TOMMY SULLIVAN

In 1898 Rice was in his prime and was looking for the best bantams and feathers in the country and met many of them. He knocked out Jack Burke in three rounds, and this sent his stock up. He won on points over the famous Paul Kelly in a twenty round bout; also over Patsy Broderick in twenty rounds. He fought Broderick later in the year and drew at twenty rounds. Benny Leon and George Munroe also drew with Rice at twenty rounds. His only loss that year was to Terry McGovern in a fourteen round battle.

In 1899 Rice knocked out Joe Golden in three rounds and v over Billy Whitaker in ten rounds, Mike Mahar in ten rounds and Billy Barrett in twenty rounds. He drew with Timmy Callahan twice and lost to Tim once. He also drew with George Munroe and lost to him in the same year Tommy Sullivan defeated him in fifteen rounds on points.

In 1900 his biggest bout was with Sammy Kelly, a first string fighter, in a twenty-five round bout, which resulted in a draw.

In 1901 he met all the top notchers of the day, including Eddy Lenny, Hugh Murphy, Hugh McPadden, Tommy Sullivan, Tommy Feltz and Johnny Burens. He appeared in bouts in this city against four big stars, winning from Tommy Sullivan here in sixteen rounds and drawing with him here in twenty rounds. He also met Tommy Feltz here and drew in fifteen rounds. He defeated Johnny Burns here on November 27, 1901, in a memorable twenty round bout that was remembered for years by those how saw it.

WON FROM TIM CALLAHAN

In 1902 he won from Tim Callahan in St. Louis in fifteen rounds and drew with Harry Lewis in Chicago in six rounds. He fought Joe Bernnstein, pride of the East Side in New York, the battle being fought in Philadelphia with no decision but Rice was called winner by ringside fans. He defeated Dave Sullivan in Waterbury in twenty rounds, and on April 29 of that year won from Hugh McPadden in this city in twenty rounds. He lost to Benny Yarger in Chicago, and then came back to this city and defeated Billy Ryan, a star of the first magnitude in twenty rounds.

BRITISH SAILORS MAKE GIFT TO LOCAL RACE CLUB

Yangtsze Patrol Men Give Clock; Presentation At Union Jack Club

In grateful appreciation of the helpful interest taken by the stewards and members of the Shanghai Race Club in their welfare, an impressive presentation was made by the petty officers and men of the British Yangtsze Gunboat patrol at the Union Jack Club last night, the gift being a massive golden trimmed black-wood chime-clock, suitably inscribed on a golden plate.

The speech of presentation was made by Mr. E. A. Johnson o the Naval office staff. He recounted something of the history and growth of the club, and expressed the gratification of the Blue Jackets for the efforts made by the Shanghai Race Club in instituting and supporting it since 1917. The presentation of last night, he said, came abou after the realisation on the part of the men that the Race Club had been at considerable expense from month to month in maintaining their home. It was all they could do, he said, to repay, and to show their appreciation.

MR. JACKSON REPLIES

Mr. W. S. Jaskson, late chairman of the stewards of the Race Club received the clock for his Club. Mr. Jackson was chiefly responsible for the Union Jack Club coming into being. It was he who urged upon the Race Club the desirability of sponsoring the sailors club, and it was particularly wished that he, even though retired, should receive the gift.

Mr. Jackson, in his response spoke of the beginning of the Club. He gave chief credit for the idea to Commander Mullok, in charge of the gunboat patrol at the time. He said that the Club was assured with furnishing and everything guaranteed overnight by members of the Race Club—not all of whom were British, he pointed out.

Mr. G. H. Stitt, the present chairman of the Race Club stewards, in giving place to Mr. Jackson said that it would be more fitting for Mr. Jackson to receive the gift in that he, more than any other, had been responsible for the formation of the Union Jack Club, so that to him must be the honor of receiving the voicing of gratification.

The cost of the clock was collected from the men of the Yangtsze gunboats. The presentation marks also the fourth anniversary of the Club. Refreshments followed the program.

HONGKONG RACING SEASON STARTS WITH GYMKHANA

Happy Valley Card Sees Big Crowd And Two Good Long Shots

The first gymkhana of the Hongkong season, held at Happy Valley on April 2, was favored with beautiful weather, and a big crowd attended, to enjoy big fields, keen racing and open betting.

The Gymkhana Club has been absorbed by the Jockey Club and the gymkhana's success was a fitting opening for what should be a continuation under the new regime of the gymkhanas' popularity.

Seven events constituted the card, six running races and one bending race in heats. There was an epidemic of bolting horses. Two long shots cashed, one at $130, another at $231. The novel bending event, in which riders endeavored to double around posts in short time went to Capt. Spinks over a field of twenty.

THREE FOOTBALL MATCHES CARDED THIS AFTERNOON; RECS AND S.F.C. NOT PLAYING

Navy Battles Public School; Customs Should Beat Electricity Department; Xavier's Favorite Over Marine Engineers

BY WHISTLE

Now that it has been decided to abandon the matches between the Football Club and the Recs, the weather has also decided to behave itself, so one of the most interesting games of the season in the second league has vanished into thin air. This is unfortunate; it would have been a tussle worth watching, as both sides had made up their minds to win, and felt pretty confident of doing so if they could put up their proper teams.

The Second Division is thus left undecided and the league officials will have to decide what the 1920-1921 verdict is to be, possibly the suggestion that the names of the two leading teams be inscribed on the shield will be acted upon.

We would suggest that as the rain has really won the league, the name of our old and intimate friend Jupiter Pluvius be inscribed for this season.

NAVY vs. PUBLIC SCHOOL

The Navy and the Public School will get together at the Race Course to struggle for the third place and on late form the Navy should get there, the school forward play is not what it was early in the season and the boys are handicapped by lack of weight in playing a bustling team like the Navy.

They may get through if they concentrate on science and play nothing but the ball, but it will need all the combination they know and frequent shooting.

CUSTOMS SHOULD WIN

The Electricity department team will face the Customs Football Club on the Widow's Monument ground this afternoon at 2:30. The line-up is as follows:

Patrick, Withers and Day; Evans, Harris and Taylor; Levinsfield, Smith, Roach, Mackenzie and Bidmead.

XAVIER'S vs. M. E. I.

The Marine Engineers and the St. Xavier's team will clash on the Polo Ground at 2:30 o'clock. The personnel of the engineers will be G. F. Powers, J. E. Grant and L. J. Skelton; E. Jones, R. J. Tomlinson (Captain) and A. Mcleod; H. Huggert, A. Anderson, J. Crawford, J. Kettlewell and W. S. Ferguson and reserves: T. Jones and D. H. Padkin. Linesman, D. M. Cuch.

BRAVES SIGN SOUTHWORTH

Billy Southworth, the outfielder acquired by the Braves from the Pirates, who was reported to be a hold-out, is within the contract fold. President G. W. Grant said Southworth had telegraphed him that his signed contract was in the mails.

Pirates Get College Pitcher

Nail McKain, of Butte, second baseman on the University of Montana baseball team last year, has been ordered to report at Hot Springs, Ark., to try for a place with the Pittsburg Nationals.

Changsha Women Demands Rights

(China Press Staff Correspondence)

Hankow, April 6.—The Hunan Women's Union of Changsha recently addressed a letter to the Drafting committee of the Hunan Provincial Self-Government Constitution demanding that women be given due consideration and protection in law in order that their position in Chinese society might be lifted.

Three demands are presented to the committee now at work drafting the constitution. First, Chinese women should be entitled to all privileges and rights accredited to men. Second, they should be given equal educational facilities and same treatment regarding opportunities for enlightenment, so that they may be independent of men's help in making a living. Third, it must be made a punishable crime to treat women as commodity by selling them as servants, prostitutes and concubines, which has long been practiced with immunity by Hunanese and people of other provinces.

Probably this is the first time, in interior China at least, that women demand better treatment at law in such a respectable way. Especially interesting and important is their demand for stopping the degrading trade in women for slaves, prostitutes and concubines.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power, are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them wilfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"Your preparation known as Castoria I have used for years in children's complaints and I have found nothing better."
JOHN J. LAPPA, M. D., Cleveland, Ohio.

"For several years I recommended your Castoria and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results."
EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., New York City.

"Your Castoria is a meritorious household remedy. It is purely vegetable and acts as a mild cathartic. Above all, it does no harm, which is more than can be said of the great majority of children's remedies."
VICTOR H. COFFMAN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy."
A. F. PEELER, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild, laxative effect and freedom from harm."
EDWARD FARRIER, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments."

Roofing Suggestions For Building Owners (No. 1)

Secure Your Roof Against Rainfall But Keep Your Eyes On The Moisture Arising From The Ground.

The construction of an enclosed area alongside a building presents an interesting problem to builders.

Consider that the concrete floor and walls are protected against the weather according to approved specifications and as shown in the attached illustration. The area way then becomes a building in itself so far as weather-proofing is concerned, and must be treated in a way similar to the main structure.

The heavy line in the drawing serves to indicate the progress of a roll of Certain-teed in sealing up the lower side of the house. The floors are protected against moisture coming from underneath; the point of contact between concrete and brick walls is "damp-proofed;" all connections overlap; and such connections sealed with a coating of asphalt cement.

This weatherproofing is known as

Certain-teed Dampcourse

and is held in high esteem by architects and builders.

Mortality Rate Among Missionaries In China Indefensibly High, Charge

Statistics Gathered By Peking Physician Show Excessive Loss Of Life Among Children And Adults; More Physicians Urged

BY ELSIE McCORMICK

A child of a missionary family in China from two to five years of age has only one-third as good a chance to survive as a child born in southern England.

This is one of the many striking facts brought out in a book of "The Health of Missionary Families in China" written by Dr. William G. Lennox of Peking, and published by the Economics Department of Denver University. The facts were compiled from answers to a health questionnaire submitted to 1,300 missionaries scattered throughout China. As answers were received from 60 percent of the missionary body, they are sufficiently representative to permit generalisations. It is the contention of Dr. Lennox that the mortality rate is indefensibly high, three-fourths of the deaths being due to infectious diseases of a preventable character. Cases of small-pox, for instance, are ninety-five times more common on the mission field in China than in the United States.

LIFE LOSS EXCESSIVE

"Taking the missionary body as a whole, there has been an excessive loss of life among both children and adults," says Dr. Lennox. "Much of this loss may in future be prevented. For such prevention, both intelligent vigilance on the part of the individual and a larger co-operative health program on the part of the churches is needed. Increased expenditure, if based on facts, would result in great money-saving, and would aid in bringing nearer the longed-for coming of the new day to China."

From the information submitted, Dr. Lennox has worked out educations regarding health conditions that are of interest to all foreigners living in China. Mortality rates are highest in the Northern provinces though invalidism is commonest in the South. Only seventeen percent of adult missionaries in the South reported that their health was robust, contrasted with 33 percent in the North.

From the children's standpoint, Shensi has the blackest record of all, an average of 226 out of 1,000 dying before reaching the age of five years. Manchuria also claims an inglorious distinction, with an average of 200 deaths out of a thousand. Deaths among children in Kwangtung, number but 87 in the same proportion, and in Fukien only 49.

CHILDREN STATISTICS

Statistics gathered by Dr. Lennox show that the danger age for a child in China is not, as at home, in the first six months of its life. In fact, the rate for this period is extremely low, lower than among the professional classes in England. During the second six months, however, the death curve takes a decided sweep upward, and for children ranging in age from two to five years, the rate is three times higher than among the groups in England having the same ratio of infant deaths. Many factors are involved in making China a hazardous place for a child to live—lack of a good milk supply, the prevalence of intestinal disorders, lack of vegetable foods containing the highly necessary vitamines, and in the interior, the fact that a physician is sometimes many days' journey away. Though the mortality among missionary children is less than half what it is among the Chinese, it is one and a half times greater than among children of missionaries in Japan.

Other factors which affect the child by decreasing his resistance are isolation, walled compounds which give little chance for play, the debilitating climate, and the constant fear and vigilance touching questions of food and drink.

MISSION BOAD'S NEGLECT

Neglect on the part of mission boards to demand that their candidates be innoculated against typhoid fever is another cause of needless sacrifice. The proportionate number of cases contracted by missionaries in China is twelve times the number at home, the rate being even higher than that in the United States Army during the Spanish-American War, before the introduction of compulsory innoculation.

Dr. Lennox observed that as a rule, the lower the missionary's salary, the larger number of deaths in his family. Low salaries mean lack of vacations, attempts to live on Chinese food, and houses in which flies hold high carnival. "How can I bring up and educate my children on a salary of $400 gold a year?" wrote one exasperated parent.

NEED MORE DOCTORS

It is the hope of Dr. Lennox that his investigation will result in the placing of more physicians on the mission field, frequent physical examinations of missionaries and their families, and careful instruction on health safeguards for missionaries about to sail for China.

The tendency of churches at home to glory in tales of suffering missionaries is decried by the author.

"Back of the mission boards lies the contributing church, a church which seems sometimes to give most liberally when its missionaries are represented as suffering most of physical privation and hardship," writes Dr. Lennox. "In order that the mission boards may not be hampered in adopting energetic, co-operative, comprehensive health policies, there is need for an increased interest of the church in the physical welfare of missionaries and a realisation of the fact that the maintenance of health is good economy. For this reason, the facts of this study are not kept secret. Sickness anywhere is expensive, but when the sick one or his successor has to be sent 10,000 miles, it is an extravagance. Things that make for health are not luxuries, but money-saving necessities."

HUGHES FAVORS ANGLO-JAP PACT WITH PROVISOS

Australian Premier Wants Agreement To Be Acceptable To U. S.

(Reuter's Service)

London, April 8.—A Melbourne telegram gives the text of a speech by Mr. W. R. Hughes, the Federal Premier, in the House of Representatives on the subject of the forthcoming conference of Imperial Premiers.

Mr. Hughes declared that the conference would deal particularly with naval defence. British statesmen, he said, were the first to recognise that the Dominions had earned the right of consultation in foreign policy, but it would be consultation and not determination, for the latter must still remain in the hands of Great Britain.

The British Government had plainly told the Dominions that it could no longer bear the expense of maintaining the Navy. This was a momentous and vital decision. The Imperial Cabinet would necessarily have to provide for the defence of the Pacific, and whereas the United States demanded a strong navy for the defence of its coast-line, Australia had a coast three times the length of that of the United States.

Mr. Hughes declared himself strongly in favor of a general Anglo-Japanese Treaty, but urged that this should be of such a form as would be acceptable to America. When there was great danger of a great naval rivalry in the Pacific, which threatened to drain the finances of the nations, and would have a reflex influence on the whole world, Australia should have an alliance with the greatest Power in the East, as long as that alliance did not involve the sacrifice of Australia's sacred principles.

He asserted that much of the legislation to which Japan objected in Australia was on her own statute-book.

Mr. Huges described the League of Nations as an unwieldy contrivance, whereas the most powerful agency for the world's peace was the British Empire. The real hope of peace, he concluded, lay in an understanding among America, Great Britain and France, while the Anglo-Japanese Treaty should be renewed in any form satisfactory to Great Britain, America and Australia.

Tip Of Finger May Save Woman From Life In Jail

Gold Tooth Also Figures In Strange Murder Mystery At Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Feb. 12.—A gold tooth and part of a finger stand between Mrs. Louise L. Peete and a life time sentence to the penitentiary. Convicted of the murder of Jacob Charles Denton, wealthy mining man, in his palatial home in an exclusive residence section of Los Angeles, this handsome and highly cultured woman evidences a strange imperturbability as she awaits the new trial she has asked.

The case is regarded as the most interesting in the anna's of the city, if not of the country. Mrs. Peete was convicted solely on circumstantial evidence.

Calm, poised, smiling, Mrs. Peete today started gathering witnesses. She says that these witnesses will testify she did not kill Denton, because they believe Denton is not dead.

DENTON'S FINGER-TIP GONE

She says she has something even better than this to establish her innocence. What that something is she will not reveal. Her friends say that the plans actually to produce Denton himself in court to set aside the State's proof of the corpus delicti.

It is known there are a number of witnesses who will swear that part of one of Denton's fingers is missing. The State put witnesses on the stand who swore that Denton was not maimed in this manner. Mrs. Peete contends that at the time she is supposed to have murdered Denton he was quarreling with a Spanish woman and later left the house with her. When he returned several hours later his arm was in a bandage.

A few days later he left for a supposed trip to the East. Instead, she says, he returned to Los Angeles. This was on July 17. The State contends that Denton was never seen alive after June 1.

Despite this contention the defense produced witnesses who swore they saw Denton alive on June 3.

Was the man found in the basement of the Denton home really Denton?

The body, which was not discovered until September 23, was so badly decomposed that the features were totally unrecognisable. The only means of identification were the clothing, a belt buckle belonging to Denton and a gold tooth.

GOLD TOOTH CLUE FLOUTED

The State placed great stress on the gold tooth. The defense jeered the theory that a dead person could be identified by means of a gold tooth.

Mrs. Peete, who is planning her own defense in event a new trial is granted, says she will produce a case which will establish the fallacy of this means of proving a corpus delicti. She will cite a party in a fashionable home in Los Angeles a week ago. There a woman acquainted her husband with the fact that she had a gold tooth. The couple had been married for twenty years, and the husband had never before known that his wife had a gold tooth. Yet the tooth can readily be seen when the woman laughs.

For months the Peete case has been the subject of discussion here. The unusual circumstances connected with Mrs. Peete's meeting with the wealthy miner, who was a well-known character of the city; the dramatic discovery of the body, interred in the basement of his home, and Mrs. Peete's subsequent fight to establish her innocence—these things have overshadowed all other topics here.

It is no uncommon thing to hear soapbox orators, formerly full of social revolutionary spirit, harangue crowds on the guilt or absence of guilt of Mrs. Peete.

WANTS TO GO ON STAND

Many believe Mrs. Peete when she says that she will take the State's case and tear it to pieces from start to finish. She explains her conviction at the first trial by saying:

"I bitterly regret that I did not follow my first impulse and take the witness stand in my own defense. I respected the decision of my counsel and stayed off the stand, although I felt at the time I was placing my neck dangerously near the noose. The verdict justified my judgment.

"If I get a new trial I will certainly take the stand and testify in my own behalf."

Mrs. Peete is thirty-five years old. She is the wife of a Denver man and the mother of a four-year-old daughter, Betty. She met Denton in May, 1920, when she answered his advertisement which offered his house for sale.

Denton was forty-six. Four years before his death he was working for a daily wage in a small mining town in Arizona. When he came to Los Angeles in 1917 he was reputed to be worth more than one million dollars. In March of 1920 he came to Los Angeles, after an absence of some months, to establish his home here.

His wealth placed him in one of the most beautiful homes of the city. But the unexpected death of his wife interfered with his plans, and caused him to insert the advertisement offering the house for sale. In this connection, Mrs. Peete's in her statement made to the police when she was arrested, said:

"I read of Mr. Denton's house in a newspaper advertisement. When I called, he told me he wished to rent the house, not to sell it. I told him I'd take care of the house for him, and rent it or sell it for him, as he saw fit.

"He consented, and agreed to let me live in the house rent free.

"He was to occupy a room separated by the guest chamber from mine. He occupied that room, but was seldom in it.

"On June 2 he agreed to give me power of attorney to sell his house. But he did not appear on that day and I received word he had been hurt in an accident. When he did not return, I started a search for him."

The murder of Denton was not disclosed by accident. For weeks a private detective engaged by Denton's attorneys, who were suspicious of his mysterious disappearance and long absence, had been searching for him.

FINDS BODY IN CELLAR

The detective, looking over the house, came across a specially constructed closet in the basement. Denton's body, or the body presumed to have been that of Denton, was found, wrapped with bed clothing and bound with rope, in the closet. Later the police and newspaper men found a bloodstained rope, with which it was thought at the time the victim had been strangled.

William F. Heitzman, gardener told of carrying earth from the garden of the Denton home to the basement on order of Mrs. Peete on June 2. The earth taken from the garden was found heaped over the body in the secret basement tomb.

Searching letters and papers found among the effects of the murdered man, it was found that on June 5 and June 9, several days after Denton had last been seen alive, checks, alleged to have been forgeries, were presented for payment by Mrs. Peete to the Farmers and Merchants' National Bank. Payments to the extent of $750 had been made.

The signatures on the checks were palpably so bad that at the time of the presentation of the checks at the bank they attracted the attention of the paying teller. Mrs. Peete at the time is said to have explained that "Mr. Denton's arm was broken and he was hardly able to write." The checks were made payable to Mrs. Peete.

MINSTREL SHOW BY ELCANO BOYS DELIGTHS CROWD

Clever end men with snappy jokes on Shanghai and Shanghai ways, a well-drilled chorus and several excellent "turns" combined to make a pleasurable evening's entertainment last night at the Navy Young Men's Christian Association where the U. S. S. Elcano "Hotfoot" minstrels held forth for over an hour. The minstrel show was followed by moving pictures. A crowded house enjoyed the splendid entertainment.

Ten enlisted men, the executive officer and the captain of the Elcano comprised the minstrel troupe and they put the show over in fine style. Captain Miles, with his ukalele, and Lieutenant Rockey and his steel guitar, were active during the evening while the sailors in the cast included Messrs. Moyer, Albin, Nazbill, Hufmann, Loper, Brenner, Kehoe, Stanton, Johnson, who made good as a female impersonator; Paillou, of football fame and Geary, who was the interlocutor.

Brenner and Salty Stanton contributed a tumbling act; a quartette known as the "Falsetto Four," made up of Brenner, Moyer, Albin and Nazbill, sang "Tell Me" and "Land of Ole Black Joe;" End Man Moyer contributed "Let the Rest of World Go By" and "Oh, What a Pal was Mary;" Albin sang "How Sorry You'll Be," and Paillou made a big hit with "My Mammy's Arms."

Asbill, as "Lady Never-With-Us," who danced the hula hula, even as it, or she, is wriggled in Honolulu, had the feature act of the evening and brought down the house with it.

So successful was the first of the Elcano's dramatic efforts here that the hope was expressed last night by many in the audience that the minstrel show will be fore runner to others.

Catches and Strangles Wolf In a Lincoln Day Hunt

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 12.—More than a thousand Champaign County farmers, with a scattering of towns-people and University of Illinois students, celebrated the birth anniversary of Lincoln today with an old-fashioned wolf hunt five miles north of here. It was the first in thirty years, according to old-timers. Firearms and dogs were forbidden. The farmers carried clubs, pitchforks or wagon spokes.

It remained for Grant Pither to furnish the real thrill of the day. He dived into some underbrush along the bank of the Sangamon River. A prairie wolf, full grown, leaped ahead into the open. Pither leaped forward, threw himself on the wolf and strangled him, then swung the beast over his head and swept him, with a crash to the ground.

"Shucks, that was nothing!" panted Pither.

Consolidated Rubber Estates, Ltd.

The seventh annual meeting of the Consolidated Rubber Estates, Ltd., held yesterday at the offices of A. R. Burkill and Sons, secretaries and general managers, revealed a satisfactory condition of business, the passing of the annual dividend, and the appropriation of profits both for 1920, and brought forward to staff bonuses, to the development, building, machinery and plant accounts, and a balance of Taels 52,822 carried forward.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. A. W. Burkill in the absence of Mr. E. T. Byrne, chairman of the directorate. Directors J. R. Moodie, G. M. W. Hummel and Hugo Reiss supported, with Mr. E. A. Prince, representing the secretaries. Shares numbering 58,145 were represented.

A profit of Tls. 78,627, was shown for the year, from 1,566 producing acres out of 2,532 under cultivation. The year's output of dry rubber totalled 663,613 lbs. as compared with 711,828 for 1919. The average number of trees tapped was 154,591, as compared with 160,663 for 1919, a decrease due to restrictions. The output estimated for the coming year is 595,000, providing for a tapping restriction of 25 percent.

Resolutions providing for the adoption of the reports and accounts, the recommended appropriation of profits, the re-election of Mr. J. R. Moodie as director, and of Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews, as auditors.

The chairman's speech follows:

"Gentlemen.—The result of the year's working may be regarded as most satisfactory, it is of course largely due to the forward sale of 15 tons monthly at 82 cents which price was for a large portion of the year considerably over the market figure.

"The f. o. b. cost is 2d. per lb. higher than for the previous year, the chief cause of this increase being the loss on rice supplied to the labor force which amounted to over S. $40,000, or nearly 1¾d. per lb. I am glad to say that for the current year there will be a reduction in this loss, the price of rice having recently declined.

"The output was some 42,000 lbs. less than the estimate. Restricted tapping was instituted during the latter part of the year and owing to the prevalence of Brown Bast on the Sitiawan property, a large number of trees were taken out of the tapping ground. This resting and a treatment of the trees by light scraping and disinfection has been quite successful and the incidence of the disease has diminished to a remarkable extent. No other disease has given any cause for anxiety. Health has been good and labor plentiful.

"The estimated output for the current year is 595,000 lbs. on a restriction of 25 percent though it is possible that a further restriction may be found necessary. The estimated cost for the current year is 31.32 cents on Sitiawan and 33.61 cents on the Teluk Anson estates and these figures will probably be improved upon. The capital expenditure estimated for both estates is under S. $20,000 so that with rubber around its present price throughout the year, the estates should be nearly self-supporting and our surplus funds will suffer but little diminution.

"No forward contracts have been entered into, but the desirability of so doing has been demonstrated in past years and should remunerative prices again become obtainable, the directors consider that a forward sale of a portion of the crop is advisable.

"The estates have been visited by Major G. N. Stevens throughout the year and his reports generally have been quite satisfactory. An especially pleasing feature of the reports received is the excellent condition of and the good progress made by the large areas of immature rubber at Sungei Nebong estate. The older areas on all the estates will require conservative handling for some time but the new areas shortly coming into bearing will maintain the company's revenue in the meantime. The general manager's representative visited the estates in June last.

"The directors recommend the writing down of buildings, machinery etc. to nominal figures, carrying forward a sum approximate to the cash position at the end of the year. Under present circumstances the payment of any dividend is obviously inadvisable, but should an improvement take place and future prospects be more certain, the directors will give every consideration to the question of the payment of an interim dividend."

Cotton

Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows in their cotton report of today.

China Cotton:—Considerable activity manifested itself during the early part of the week under review insomuch as to have engendered a certain firmness in prices which, however, was short-lived in that towards the close there ensued a perfect calm brought about by general reticence on the part of consumers who are under the impression of seeing lower levels. Prices on the whole throughout the week have in no way shown any marked changes and remain the same as those ruling during the previous week.

The receipts from the interior marts owing to the "Tsing Ming" festival have shown a considerable decrease and the stocks held in Shanghai amount to but a mediocre quantity, the greater portion of the balance of the Crop is being held back by the Farmers, who appear to be well supported financially and who apparently evince no keenness to part with their holdings unless at prices in consonance with their ideas, which, however, is subject to change according as the prospects for the new season crop become more and more visible.

While the depression in Cotton both in Europe and America still continues, such cannot be said to have materially affected the local staple to any extent nor are there presently any signs of such coming to pass in the face of the fairly healthy state in the local Yarn markets so that having in view the local situation as it stands for the time being, one could deduce the advisability of providing for immediate requirements at ruling rates and await developments as they materialise from day to day. Tone of the market, Quiet.

SHANGHAI, APRIL 9, 1921

The Far Eastern Republic Addresses America

THE Chita Government has addressed the following Note to the Government of the United States:

"The official declaration of the American Government, on occasion of intervention in Siberia, received in Vladivostok on August 5, 1918, stated: 'The United States and Japan are the only countries at present in a position to operate in Siberia with sufficient forces for the purpose of fulfilling even such modest tasks as have been outlined by the Government of the United States, that every government despatch to Vladivostok a force of several thousand men for the purpose of co-operation in the occupation of Vladivostok and the safeguarding, as much as possible, from the rear, of the Czecho-Slovak troops, advancing from the west. The Japanese Government has consented. In doing this the Government of the United States wishes to declare to the Russian people in a most frank and solemn form that it proposes no infringement on the political sovereignty of Russia and no interference with her internal as well as local affairs within the limits of the territory which its forces may be compelled to occupy, no infringement whatever upon Russian territorial integrity, as at present, so also in the future; what we propose to do is aimed solely and exclusively at rendering such assistance as is acceptable to the Russian people themselves in their aim to regain hold of the affairs of their own territory, and their own destiny. It is understood that the Japanese Government will give same assurances.'

"Three points are established beyond doubt in the declaration: (1) American forces entered Russian territory for the puspose of rendering assistance to the Czechs. (2) The American Government invited the Japanese Government to despatch troops to Russian territory and therefore it is responsible for further maintenance of Japanese Forces on the territory of the Russian Far Eastern Republic. (3) The American Government solemnly guaranteed non-interference with Russian affairs and inviolability of Russian territory. On these conditions America invited Japan to cooperate in the cause of assistance to the Czechs. At about the same time (in August) the Japanese Government in an official declaration corporated all those statements.

"Passing over the mournful history of intervention, it is necessary to point out that beginning with the end of 1919 the Allied forces had commenced evacuation following each other, until in March of 1920, the last transport with American troops had departed and soon after the last of the Czech forces also sailed. The Japanese forces did not withdraw, advancing entirely new pretexts for remaining on Russian territory—greater interests of Japan in the affairs of East Siberia, menace to Korea and Manchuria, and unsafety of life and property of Japanese citizens.

"Instead of withdrawal came the surprise of the events of April 4 and 5 with all their distressing consequences, and in July the Saghalien District was occupied by the Japanese. Only the Transbaikal and the Habarovsk sectors have been cleared while the Maritime district is occupied by Japanese forces to this very day, and it is the only locality where criminal counter-revolutionary gangs of the Semenovists are still nesting, where they kill, rob, and terrorise the population; it is the only locality where, as in the Saghalien District, the Russian population can not feel at home in their own country. The activity of the Japanese in this district and particularly on the railroad had long ago prompted the International Railroad Board to adopt a resolution 'To inquire of their respective governments regarding the expediency of continuing work in view of the activity of the Japanese Command.'

"At the time of withdrawal of the American forces the American government addressed no declarations whatever to the Russian population; it is, therefore, not clear to the Russian population of the Far East whether the American Government holds that the ends it was pursuing in despatching its forces here have been attained, and whether it supposes that the inter-allied intervention has ended. In the declaration of March 14, 1919, on occasion of the formation of the Inter-Allied Railroad Board on the territory of the Russian Far East, it was stated: The validity of this agreement is to cease with the withdrawal of foreign forces from Siberia. The fact of the presence of the Inter-Allied Railroad Board on the territory of the Russian Far East serves as testimony that inter-allied intervention and formal participation in it still continues. The situation compels the representatives of the people of the Russian Far East to request that the American Government explain the following points:

(1) Does the Government of the United States of North America consider its declaration of August 5, as still in force? (2) If it does, what is the motive of intervention since the withdrawal of the Czech forces? (3) If it is no more in force, then when does the Government of the United States of America propose to issue its solemn declaration to the population of the Far East regarding the end of the intervention, like it did on the ocasion of its inauguration? (4) When will the Government of the United States of America, who had invited the Japanese Government to military co-operation in the Russian Far East, with like precision put an actual end to the intervention inaugurated in the begining of 1918 by virtue of that invitation?

"Despite the numerous obstacles that have been put in the way of unification of the population of the Russian Far East the latter have found sufficient strength to overcome all obstacles and achieve unification of the entire Far East. At present by the will of all the people of the Far East, indiscriminately of class, or nationality, their representatives in the Constituent Assembly elected on the principle of universal, equal, direct, and secret ballot, have confirmed the Declaration of Independence of the Far East and the formation of a democratic Far Eastern Republic. The motherland—the Russian Socialistic Federative Soviet Republic—has recognised the independence of the democratic Republic of the Far East and now the Constituent Assembly reflecting and representing the will of the people, awaits like recognition by the Government of the United States of America."

The foregoing Note engages attention and encourages reflection no matter from what angle it is approached. There is an outward seriousness, due to the serious nature of the matters involved. Also there appears to us to be an inner, hidden humor, a sly cutback. In other words, we take it, the young Chita Government is spoofing the grand old American Government.

The situation when the Allied and Associated Powers stepped into Siberia to help evacuate the Czecho-Slovaks was not what it is today. Kolchak, Kalmikoff, Semenoff and the rest were in the saddle and going strong. The announcement of the American government was not to Russia alone but to the world. The objects set forth in the American declaration of purpose were carried out. Then the Americans withdrew. They had no trouble with the Russians. On the contrary they were of great assistance to them.

And when their work had been done, as we say, they got out, and their withdrawal was published and commented upon in every newspaper in Russia. The Russians, indeed, saw them go and cheered them on their way. There was no government in Siberia at that time that could have been notified.

Does the Chita Government now expect the Americans to come back and eject the Japanese? It will do well to remember that it was the United States that bound the Japanese to the terms of withdrawal—got the Japanese government to announce to the Russian people and to the world that it would withdraw when the specified duty had been accomplished. The position was that Japan was going in and America intervened to limit and define the Japanese operations; did this on behalf of the Russians. That Japan has failed to carry out its agreement is unfortunate and regrettable. But the public opinion of the world will take care of that; even now it is gradually forcing Japan to a realisation of her position and her withdrawal appears to be but a matter of weeks. Meanwhile, the American position should not be misstated.

GOOD FELLOWSHIP

"Good fellowship is one of the keys of successful business," Lord Leverhulme once remarked. He also emphasized this at a recent dinner, when, in proposing the toast to the guest of the evening, he quoted the following verses, illustrating the influence of the friendly hand:

When a man ain't got a cent
And is feeling kind of blue,
And the clouds hang dark and heavy
And won't let the sunshine through,
It's a great thing, O my brethren,
For a fellow just to lay
His hand upon your shoulder
In a friendly sort of way

It makes a man feel curious,
It makes the tear-drops start,
And you sort of feel a flutter
In the region of your heart
You can look up into his eyes,
Though you don't know what to say—
When his hand is on your shoulder
In a friendly sort of way.

O! the world's a curious sort of place,
With its honey and its gall,
With its cares and bitter crossess;
But it's a good world after all.
And the Good God must have made it—
Leastways, that's what I say
When a hand is on my shoulder
In a friendly sort of way.

THE FLY IN THE OINTMENT

Mr. Samuel Gompers, the American labor leader, is dead against what is known in England as the "ca canny" principle.

He believes in giving a fair day's work for a fair day's pay, and in addressing the members of a working-men's club lately, he took occasion to rub this in.

"Some of you chaps," he said, remind me of the two born-tired men who started to argue about the hours of work."

"That'll be the time" said one, "when everything's done by electricity! Only, got to press a button, and the job's finished.

"Here, hold hard," exclaimed the other emphatically, "that won't do. Who's going to press the button?"

LAURELS FOR BLUFF

There is nothing to beat the truth, but a smart lie often "goes down."

Lord Beatty, describing the need of resourcefulness in the Royal Navy, told a good story a short time ago of a candidate who was being examined by a bluff old admiral.

"How did you come here, m'lad?" was the admiral's first question.

"In a taxi, sir," replied the candidate.

"And what was the number of the taxi?"

"3548, sir."

"Good!" exclaimed the admiral. "You'll do."

The admiral related the incident that evening to a friend, who remarked:

"What a very observant lad! But how did you know he was telling the truth?"

"Truth be sugared!" retorted the admiral. "It was deuced smart of the boy to give me a number without the slightest hesitation!"

SAVED DAYLIGHT IN 1643

Records Show Bell Ringers Awakened Citizens Before Dawn

Hartford, Conn., Feb. 14.—Daylight saving was in operation in Hartford in 1643, seven years after its settlement, according to an old record uncovered today by Corporation Counsel Walter S. Schutz, who was looking up data for a map of the official boundary line of a certain section of this city.

F. Perry Close of the City Engineering Department, who is an advocate of daylight saving, and who is doing the map for Mr. Schutz, points out that Page 35 of copy No. 1 of the Hartford Town records, reveals that a general town meeting in Hartford Oct. 24, 1643, voted that there should be a bell rung by the watch every morning an hour before daybreak, "and that the hour appointed by the constable for that purpose shall begin at the bridge and so ring the bell all the way forth and back: Master Moodye (Wyllyshill) to John Pretis, and that they shall be in every house one up and some lights within one-quarter of an hour after the end of the bell ringing, if they can, or else then to be up with lights aforementioned half an hour before daylight, and for default herein is to forfeit one shilling and six pence to be to him that finds him faulty and six pence to the town."

A CALL FOR AID

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir: It is often said that a call for aid never falls upon deaf ears in Shanghai, and so I am venturing to address a little appeal—if you will be so kind as to aid me in so doing—to the generous public of this city in the name of the Russian Benevolent Society.

For several years past our society has been doing its best to aid all needy or destitute Russians in Shanghai, irrespective of class or political creed, who apply for relief. But during recent months the difficulties we have had to face have greatly multiplied, and now we find ourselves almost brought to a standstill through lack of funds.

Probably few of the public realise what an amount of not merely ordinary poverty but real destitution there is here among Russian refugees at the present time. We are constantly confronted with problems as to how to provide food, clothing, and medicine for those who come to us with their troubles, also even the most elementary education for the children. Furthermore, the case of prospective mothers is an ever-present difficulty, suitable accommodation for these women (many of them gently born and reared) at a time when they need the greatest help and are least able to help themselves, being very difficult to provide and very costly when obtainable at all.

With the object of raising funds to carry on their work, the Russian Benevolent Society in collaboration with the Jewish Benevolent Society, are holding a "Bal de Tetes" at the Astor House Hotel on the night of the 14th of April, and my purpose in writing this letter is to commend this event to the kindly attention of your readers as worthy of their patronage. Admission, which includes a light supper, is only $3.00 each, a comparatively small sum to the majority, but which, as the Astor House management is generously giving the use of the Ball Room, Jazz Band and staff free, will leave a substantial margin for charitable use. Tickets can be obtained at the Astor House Hotel, from Mr. Boutirskoff, Russo-Asiatic Bank; from the Bureau of Russian Affairs No. 1 Whangpoo Road, or from myself at 16, Wong Ka Shaw Gardens, Carter Road. Thanking you, I am, Sir, Yours sincerely,

Catherine Desnitsky-Stone
Hon. President,
Russian Benevolent Society.

P. S. It may perhaps be well to explain that a Bal de Tetes differs from an ordinary ball only in the fact that all ladies and gentlemen present are expected to wear some distinctive ornament in the hair. To add to the Charity Fund it is proposed to levy a fine of $1.00 in each case where this condition is not complied with.

THE MUNICIPAL BUDGET

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Sir: As the annual parliament is at hand I wish to set forth reasons why I think the general body of ratepayers should absolutely decline to pass the Municipal Budget as set forth for the current year.

This budget of frensied finance should be rejected and a special commission of citizens be appointed to go right into the question of the grave and wholesale squandering of public resources which is going on under the aegis of an extravagant and, apparently, financially irresponsible Municipl Bureaucracy.

Indeed, this thing has reached the dimensions of a grave menace re-acting in the everyday lives of the community, and it is intolerable that this wanton extravagance and huge expenditure should be suffered to continue.

The Shanghai Municipal Bureaucracy are no longer the servants of the community, they have become its masters. In 1913 the last pre-war year, the total Municipal Income was $5,400,000 against total Expenditure $4,876,000 showing a balance of $524,000 on the right side. Municipal Silver Loans then outstanding amounted in round figures to $7,000,000.

In 1920 the total Income was $13,153,000 against Expenditure $13,178,000—a balance of $25,000 on the wrong side. .....

Municipal Silver Loans now outstanding amount to $22,000,000.

In 7 years therefore, an annual balance of $524,000 to the good has been converted into an annual balance of $25,000 to the bad, and debts have piled up from $7,000,000 to $22,000,000.

Is it not about time to sit up and take notice?

For the past five years (1916 to 1920) the total Municipal Income has been $40,000,000 against Expenditure $41,724,000 a balance of $1,724,000 to the bad for the period.

It is now actually proposed to raise loans to the extent of $9,600,000 for the current year on top of the $22,000,000 still outstanding. Does this not verge upon the preposterous?

People complain about the High Cost of Living. The above figures, and all they imply, supply a partial explanation for H. C. L., I think.

There has been no war in Shanghai nor any war taxation; Shanghai should be a fairly reasonable place to live in compared with war affected cities and districts, but it is a most expensive place.

Instead of conserving public resources and "doing without" in such grave years as these, when half the world is literally starving for the barest necessities of mere existence, we see taking place before our eyes a veritable "Rakes Progress" in public finance. All sense of proportion, of the fitness of things, or of the times we live in and have yet to encounter in the future, seems to be sadly lacking.

However unpopular it may be, I say that I am amazed at the functioning of the Shanghai Municipal Bureaucracy in this wildly improvident manner.

In Europe, bloated expenditure and extravagance has, at any rate, the excuse of a cataclysmic conflict, but what excuse is there in Shanghai?

This extravagance is perpetrated by men who would be among the first to condemn huge public expenditure on the part of the new political forces that have arisen in the world.

I am well aware that the community is apathetic about municipal matters and that in calling attention to hard facts I am offending the canons of local "good form." Yet, living and making my home in Shanghai this frensied finance closely affects my pocket and the pocket of others in like case with myself.

I wish to help to put a stop to it.

If it continues, and certainly, if this Budget be passed, H. C. L. will surely become S. H. C. L. (Still-Higher-Cost-Of-Living).

I regret being unable to lead a campaign in person at the forthcoming Ratepayers' Meeting against this inexcusably immoral Budget because I have not got a vote, but I hope someone will have the courage to get up and give a lead to those who really wish to take decisive steps to reduce the cost of living, but do not quite know the way to go about it.

The first step, towards reducing H. C. L. in Shanghai is to call "Halt" to the budget at the ratepayers' Meeting and to vote against passing it, solidly, promptly, and without any hesitation.

Do not be fobbed off with specious excuses nor be cozened with fair words. Vote against this Budget! Reject this Budget!

If it passes, Hail to S. H. C. L. and a final goodbye to all hope of Lower Cost of Living. If you cannot speak against it, you can at any rate hold up your hands against it. Do so! The effort is slight, the result will be beneficial to you.

People! This Budget is financial fatuity personified, and is only fit for the waste paper basket! Put it there. Your obedient servant,

W. Bruce Lockhart.

A SILKEN TIP

A Director of the Bank of England was asked how they knew bad Bills from good ones.

"By the smell!" was his reply.

One instantly distinguishes the difference between a Westminster "CALUMET" Turkish Cigarette and other varieties by its delightful aroma.

This outstanding quality is due to delicate Xanthi leaf only being used for preparing "CALUMET" Cigarettes, and is a reason why they are especially appreciated by ladies.

An agreeable detail is that they are SILK-TIPPED.

They are imported and are sold in boxes of 20.

'Mothers Of Great Men'

Some citizen ought to write about able women in history, especially about mothers. Seeing a fine painting, you ask the name of the artist. Not one in a dozen, hearing of a famous man, asks about the mother that created him, and gave him his ability.

On Tuesday, February 15, at Orangeburg, South Carolina, they sold some fine pigs. A young Berkshire boar was bid up to fifteen hundred dollars, and withdrawn from the sale because that wasn't enough. He was a fine animal, tall as a Shetland pony, more than six feet long, and, fattened, would weigh close to a thousand pounds.

The man that bid the fifteen hundred dollars said to C. E. Miller, of McSherry's Town, Pa., "I'd like to see the mother of that boar." He meant that the important thing about a fine animal—pig, race horse or prize bull—is the mother.

Men ought to realise that human mothers are as important to humanity. Reading many lives of Napoleon, was to racing. Now if you mention Nancy Hanks, ninety-nine think about a race horse, and one thinks of Lincoln's mother.

Does anybody know a good, modern book on women that have made, for this world, whatever is good in it, and in the human race? There is to be had in French libraries a Dictionnaire Historique des Femmes Celebres. There is an old Biographium Faemineum and some other antiquated books which discuss women, feebly.

The best known to this writer are the six volumes, "Female Biography, or Memoirs of Illustrious and Celebrated Women of all Ages and Countries," written by Mary Hays, published in 1803. That book is out of print; a new and better book is needed.

Reading many lives of Napoleon, you find a few scattering statements about his mother. She was greater than Napoleon. She created him and a dozen others, having children from fourteen years of age onward. Success did not spoil her, she retained her common sense to the end. Napoleon did not. There ought to be a volume about Letitia Ramolino Bonaparte. She had genius, and could create it.

Everybody reads of Henry the Fourth, his battles, his gallantries, his white panache, the rallying point, "always on the path of honor" at the Battle of Ivry. Nearly everybody knows something about the various young women that Henry of Navarre honored with his attentions, respectful and otherwise.

But who knows anything about his mother, Jane D'Albert, daughter of the King and Queen of Navarre? Her father, Henry, knew that brave mothers make brave sons. He promised her a chain of gold, and his last will and testament bestowing great treasures upon her, if she would sing a song in the language of Bearn, while her child was being born. It was a difficult birth, yet at the most painful part, Jane sang the song Notre-Dame du bout du pont, aidez-moi en cette heure. "Our lady of the end of the bridge, help me in this hour."

The King, as soon as the boy was born, handed her the will, in a gold box, and put a chain of gold around her neck, saying: "These are for you, my daughter, but this boy is mine." He took the infant, Henry of Navarre, carried him off, rubbed garlic on his lips and gave him a little sip of burgundy, to make him start life properly. That last news should be withheld from earnest prohibitionists, although they might find comfort in the fact that the baby grew up to be rather loose in his private life, although extraordinarily courageous and useful as a king. That sip of burgundy, 14 percent alcohol, may have done it.

Jane, mother of Henry of Navarre, like the mother of Napoleon, was a better "man" than her famous son. Unlike him, she would not change her religion for anybody or anything. He said: "Paris is well worth a mass," and changed from Protestant to Catholic. But you could not change Jane. Women are a thousand times as sincere as man, and the lives of mothers prove it.

Agrippina, mother of Nero, would fill interesting volumes with her extraordinary talent, courage, firmness in danger. A Chaldean soothsayer said that her son, Domitius, afterward called Nero, would be Emperor, but would redden his hands "in the blood of her who should advance him to the throne." "Content," replied the mother, "provide he reigns, let me be the victim." She was the victim.

Wherever you see a man on a throne, apparently conquered by himself, whether it be the throne of an emperor, a steel or an oil king you will find, if you get the facts, that some woman pushed him up there.

It makes you realise woman's courage, to read how Agrippina met death. She escaped by swimming from the boat with the trick hull, in which her son tried to drown her, then facing his soldiers that came to murder her, and offering her body to the murderers said: "Strike here, level your rage against the womb which gave birth to a monster."

Success did not spoil her, but it did considerably more than spoil her son, who was brilliant, able and pleasing in the beginning, before the slave girl, Acte, got hold of him, and before he began to believe the fools that called him a god.

There are forty good volumes in the life of Olympias, mother of Alexander the Great, if we could only resurrect it—her snake dancer, her friend, the magician, that fooled Phillip, her husband, etc.

The life of Joan of Arc, fortunately, has been well written by Michelet and others. How many thousands of sermons are in that life!

Nobody can know Lincoln without knowing the tall, powerful woman, Nancy Hanks, that created his body, planting in his mind qualities that saved this Union from destruction, and the stepmother, intelligent, devoted woman, who developed and fed with books the mind that Nancy Hanks had created.

Read the five volumes of Ferrero's History of Rome and you see Roman women shining out here and there, like pure gold in a dull background of base material, and the men are the base material. The Greek slave girl that made Lucullus, the Conqueror, go back through Greece restoring temples and cities, was ten times better than Lucullus.

And Octavia, sister of Augustus and wife of Cleopatra's fool, Marc Antony, patient with that fool, wisely advising her brother, was worth more to Rome than any three men of her day, not excepting her great brother.

Long ago, in New York, this writer spoke to H. G. Wells about writing an "Outline of History," after having tried to persuade Ostrogorski, the able Russian writer on The Rights of Women, Democracy, etc., to do the work.

Wells, who has admirably completed his outline of general history, would probably be the best man to write a "History of Great Women, and Especially of Great Mothers." This is an invitation to him to write it.

The character of men is illustrated in the fact that hundreds of them have written biographies of women made infamous by their association with the vices of men. And other hundreds have written about women that were the unfortunate playthings of powerful men in history.

Nobody writes about that which is really worth while, the mothers that create useful men, and thus create civilisation.

Bee-Lines

Bees, if you can keep them in their place—i. e., away from your anatomy, are among our best little workers. In fact, the only thing that works harder than a bee is that threadbare old remark about being "as busy as a bee."

Owing to the unwillingness of the cows to speed up production the chances of butter ever becoming cheaper seem very remote. The only way we will ever get an inexpensive spread for our crust is by subsidizing the little stingers.

A cow has to be pastured, stabled, milked and generally made a fuss over. Give a bee a hive and the little fellow will do the rest. When it comes to pasture he can take in the whole landscape, including the neighbors.

Let's start bee culture on a grand scale. Let everybody keep a few bees—not counting those in their bonnets. Let old maids, instead of devoting their attention to a canary and a cat, go in for bees. The chances are that they won't get stung any oftener than usual, even at that.

Of course, to be a successful beeist, you've got to know a thing or two. Never speak harshly to the bee; use honeyed words. Never argue with a bee; let the little fellow have his own way. A bee-line of argument is the kind that can't be answered, anyhow.

B'uzz we were saying, there ought to be a market for honey. Even if we can't eat it it will always come in handy when composing popular ballads for vaudeville.

Entertainment At Chefoo Raises $1000 For Soldiers' Fund

(China Press Correspondence)

Chefoo, April 6.—Warrior's Day, March 31, was made the occasion by the Sons of Britain Organisation for the effort to raise a large sum of money for the aid of unemployed soldiers.

The chief item of the program was the play, the title of which was "Tilda's New Hat" but before this was given, there were several musical items. The S.O.B.s had secured the services of Mr. and Mrs. Railton for a duet, Mrs. Macartney, Mr. A. W. Taylor, a recent arrival in the Port, and Mr. Railton for songs, all of whom were enthusiastically received and encored. Then in addition this portion of the concert included a recitation by Mr. A. R. Hogg, whose powers in this direction are considerable and the Padre who amused the audience by his ability to deceive. The latter's exhibition was worthy of a professional and Professor Cheatem as he was shown on the program, was indeed one of the catches of the evening. He kept his audience alternately in fits of laughter and breathless with amazement and when a white rabbit turned up in the Hall wearing a lady's gold watch round its neck, the enthusiasm was tremendous.

His agility with the cards was also fascinating and the Chaplain of St. Andrew's Church, was revealed in quite a new light.

At the conclusion of the conjuring, there was an interval for the preparation of the stage. This was utilised for the auctioning of sweets which had been made by the women of the Port. Mr. Cappelen made a very successful auctioneer and fine prices were obtained for the candies.

The Play was an unparalleled success and the "S.O.B.'s" are to be sincerely congratulated upon the wonderful success of their efforts. It is said that as a result of the effort, the Fund for the unemployed soldiers will benefit to the extent of over a thousand dollars.

Yesterday at the home of Mr. Casey a reception was held so that Chefoo people might have an opportunity of meeting the Rt. Rev. Bishop Scott D.D. and his nephew, who is the Bishop Designate of Shantung. A large number of residents availed themselves of the invitation and quite a pleasant social took place. The Bishop is holding a Confirmation Service in St. Andrew's Church tomorrow morning.

Scouts On Way To Get Report On Urga

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, April 6.—Departure from Mukden of a thoroughly equipped reconnoitring party under orders from the Central Government to learn the exact military situation in the Urga district and to definitely confirm or disprove the government's information that "Little Hsu" is actively engaged in organising the Mongols marks the first step looking to the recapture of Urga.

The fact that general Chiang Shou-chi, who heads the party, received part of his instructions in Peking and the remainder from General Chang Tso-lin, who later discussed the situation with a representative of the Chung Mei News Agency, is taken by many as an indication that the government and the Inspector General of Manchuria are co-operating closely in the preliminary stages of the effort at least.

Many of the reported military conferences at Mukden between General Chang and other chiefs, which aroused suspicion and gave rise to a new crop of monarchist rumors, were conferences between Generals Chang and Chiang and members of their staffs.

General Chiang told the Inspector General that Peking had been advised that "Little Hsu," was the force that saved the Mongol up-rising from an early and natural death. His orders, he said, were to learn whether the former Anhuite leader is really there. If he is there, the mission will try to ascertain his military strength.

Gen. Yi Punished For Urga Failure

(China Press Correspondence)

Peking, April 6.—President Hsu Shih-chang has issued a mandate stripping General Chen Yi of all his military ranks and titles as punishment for his failure to hold Urga against the Ungern troops. The Central government has in addition, issued a peremptory order to the Commander-in-Chief of the Urga expeditionary forces, to submit at once a list of all officers who failed to perform their full duty in the defense of Outer Mongolia. The government warns the Commander-in-Chief to make his investigation thorough and that it will hold him responsible. Further information which the government says is from reliable sources, says that General Chen Yi became seriously ill after the defeat and that he is now in a military hospital in Harbin. It is reported that several of his officers who were temporarily held up in Harbin because of plague conditions, will soon proceed to Peking.
